Recap

- "Motif finding" is the problem of finding a set of common substrings within a set of strings.

- Useful for finding transcription factor binding sites.

- Gibbs sampling: repeatedly leave one sequence out and optimize the motif location in the left-out sequence.

- Doesn't guarantee finding a good solution, but often works.